Discover Project-Based Learning With 'Essential Elements' Classes

John Girodat will again be offering the introductory classes in the popular "Project-Based Learning" series this spring in Salina!

Both classes will be 9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Baker University credit is available.

Cost per class is $75 for charter members, $90 for associate and $105 for non-members.

Project-Based Learning I: An Introduction to the Essential Elements

2/3/20

What is the difference between a project and teaching through project-based learning? This workshop will introduce you to the six essential elements that make up project-based learning and give you opportunities to learn about each element. Learn how to use some, or all, of them to increase student buy-in, engagement, and achievement.

Project-Based Learning II: Diving Deeper into the Essential Elements

3/9/20

This workshop will focus on how to create a good driving question that will guide students through the PBL process and how to make sure that they keep asking questions all the way through. When students ask the right questions, they are motivated to find the answers. Motivated students try harder, perform better and are less of a discipline problem.

Cancellations must be received two days before the workshop to avoid being billed.

Grant to Support School Safety

Smoky Hill Education Service Center has received a grant of $249,998 for the development of anonymous reporting solutions in addressing school safety. The Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs (OJP), announced the grant to SHESC on October 21.

The OJP's Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) awarded $29.5 million nationwide through its STOP School Violence Technology and Threat Assessment Solutions for Safer Schools Program. The program is authorized under the STOP School Violence Act of 2018.

SHESC was the only institution in Kansas to receive a grant under the program, which awarded 68 grants to local governments, federally recognized Indian tribes and public agencies.

The program directly helps schools by providing school administrators, staff, students and first responders

Bureau of Justice Assistance

with the ability to use threat assessments, crisis intervention teams and anonymous reporting technology.

SHESC will use the grant to support both existing and planned services for school districts that are designed to address bullying and school violence.

Chris Moddelmog, Executive Director of SHESC, said the DOJ grant will make a substantial difference at SHESC as it fulfills its mission of providing services to more than 50 school districts across 25 Kansas counties.

More than 31,000 students and 2,700 teachers and administrators served by SHESC will benefit from the grant.

"Our vision with this grant is to help as many schools in Kansas as possible to grow a culture of safety and security," Moddelmog said. "A grant this large will go a long way toward supporting that goal."

Save on Test Prep Classes

A new partnership between Method Test Prep and Smoky Hill Education Service Center will offer a more than 20% discount on "Power Classes," which include essential strategies and content for students who want to raise their ACT test scores.

Each two-hour, teacher-led online class offers practical, focused study on a different subject area of the ACT test: critical reading, math, writing and science concepts. All classes are recorded for later viewing!

Cost per class, per student is normally $70, but with the discount, each costs only $55! High school teachers, please share this with your students' families.

Visit go.smokyhill.org/MTP for more information on the courses and how to receive this discount.

Spring 2020 SHESC Workshop Presenters

Jaye Ditter

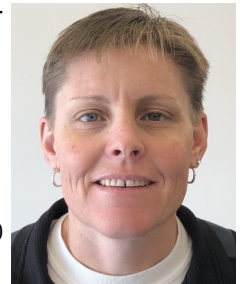

started working with education service centers in 2000 and has worked at Smoky Hill ESC since 2005. Working from the Hays location, Ditter provides PDC training, coordinates Teacher Safari, Safari Adventure and Expo. She is also part of the Smoky Hill ESC crisis intervention team and facilitator for the Smoky Hill Adventure Program.

Pam Kraus is currently the CTE Coordinator and STEM Consultant at SHESC. She has 20 years of experience in the classroom as a high school chemistry teacher. She has presented to educators from around the world at Space Exploration Educators Conference at Space Center Houston, and to science educators from Kansas at the annual Kansas Association of Teachers of Science conference.

Noalee McDonald-Augustine is in her 20th year as an Educational Consultant. She was Co-chair of the Kansas Social, Emotional, and Character Development (SECD) standards writing team. She also manages SHESC's Ropes Adventure Program.

John Girodat

has spent almost 20 years serving students, families and teachers as a classroom instructor, coach, athletic director, building administrator and Kansas State Department of Education consultant. Having served in multiple capacities from small, rural ethnically diverse districts; to medium sized high-poverty districts; to the State Department of Education has given John a variety of experience. This diverse background allows him to provide multiple lenses through which to address many issues including classroom practices, safety and security, leadership, redesign, poverty and more.

Chris

Moddelmog has worked for Smoky Hill Education Service Center since 2006 and is in his 5th year as Executive Director. A lifelong educator, he graduated from Bethany College with a Bachelor's degree in education and earned a Master's degree in educational administration from Wichita State University. Throughout his career, Chris has been involved in various teaching, professional development and administrative roles.

Darla Smith is currently the Assistant Director of SHESC, responsible for staff development and school improvement. Previously, she was a K-12 instructional coordinator for seven years for the Derby School District – working specifically with language arts and social studies as well as supporting math, science, and the fine arts. Darla has received extensive training in school improvement, assessment, brain-based learning, cooperative learning, project-based learning and curriculum development. Darla taught language arts and social studies at the middle and high school levels. She has expertise in assessment, school improvement, brain-based learning, reading, writing and effective instructional strategies.
