The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommend N95 respirator masks as an effective preventative measure against the transmission of the novel coronavirus and COVID-19. Currently in the United States, however, unprecedented demand has led to a critical shortage of the masks. On April 3, 2020, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved an Emergency Use Authorization for KN95 masks - the approval standard used in China with equivalent performance to N95 respirator masks. The authorization allows the import and use of KN95 masks during the COVID-19 situation.

Smoky Hill Education Service Center is pleased to announce that in partnership with School Specialty; educational institutions, non-profit organizations, and city and county governments can now order this critical item of KN95 respirator masks for delivery, while supplies last!

(NEW!) I would be interested in a smaller order of 100 masks minimum. Please call me email me with details.

Yes, I want to save money on everyday needs such as office supplies, copy paper, food, custodial items, furnace filters, light bulbs, and more by joining SHESC's volume purchasing program. Please call me email me to finalize needed details to register in the program. I understand the program features no monthly purchase minimum and no standard monthly fee, and that I will only pay a 2% administrative fee of my actual purchase total, invoiced quarterly.

I am not yet ready to enroll in SHESC's volume purchasing program, but am interested in learning more. Please call me email me with more information. I understand I can also receive a free demo of the volume purchasing system.
