35567 Daily 5 Structure for Your Elementary Classroom During Small Group and Intervention Time (Salina)

Do you find yourself struggling with knowing how to manage your class when you are trying to work with a small group of students during reading or math intervention times? Do you feel like you are trying to keep the students who are performing at or above benchmark busy with busy work during this time so you can find uninterrupted time to work with your struggling students? This training is for any elementary classroom teacher who would like to structure their small group and intervention times differently and not have to develop busy work centers constantly. During this training we will study the book: The Daily Five Second Edition by Boushey and Moser and dive into the components of the Daily 5 for literacy and Daily 3 for math. This training will give you the tools necessary to feel confident that you are providing for ALL the needs of your learners during intervention times. When implementing the Daily 5 you will spend less time on classroom management so you can work with a small group of students and help students develop stamina, independence, and accountability; give students lots of time practicing reading, writing, and math skills independently; and spend more time working with a small group of students while improving student achievement in literacy and math. By the end of this day, you will be ready to walk back into your classroom and begin implementing a new way to manage your classroom so you can have more time with small groups or even one-on-one time with a student.

35562 Specific Interventions to Address Phonological Awareness Needs (Salina)

During this training, we will learn specific teaching strategies and multisensory routines that can be implemented during reading MTSS time or small group instruction to address phonological awareness needs in our students. Phonological awareness skills are necessary pre-reading skills students need to be automatic and proficient in. We will learn new direct and systematic strategies to target the sequence of skills to build phonological awareness from early to advanced levels in students and look at how our screening data, progress monitoring data, and diagnostic tests should drive our instruction during intervention time in PA. You will walk away with specific strategies you can begin implementing immediately and feel more competent in your ability to address these early reading needs in your students. This training will tremendously benefit PK-2nd grade classroom teachers, special education teachers of all grade levels, reading interventionists of all grade levels, any classroom teacher at the elementary level that works with struggling readers during intervention time, and literacy coaches.

35616 Mean Girls(Hays) Sugar and spice and everything nice. That's what little girls are made of. (Mother Goose nursery rhyme)

Not anymore, it is Queen Bees, Wannabes, Mean Chicks, Cliques, Dirty Tricks, and Girl Wars. Dory age 16 said, To ask a girl if she's ever been treated mean by another girl is to ask if she's ever been around her peers. Girls grow up being taught that it is prettier to be nice and because of this when they become angry they resort to covert forms of aggression – Relational Aggression. We are just now understanding the magnitude and effects of Relational Aggression, in fact, it has been reported that 70% of girls have been mistreated by their friends. In this workshop, you will learn the types and levels of relational aggression; the short and long-term effects; school-wide and classroom strategies for managing RA; strategies to empower victims and bystanders; hints for handling RA parents; and most importantly how to overcome the culture that breeds RA.

Girls grow up being taught that it is prettier to be nice and because of this when they become angry they resort to covert forms of aggression – Relational Aggression. We are just now understanding the magnitude and effects of Relational Aggression, in fact, it has been reported that 70% of girls have been mistreated by their friends. In this workshop, you will learn the types and levels of relational aggression; the short and long-term effects; school-wide and classroom strategies for managing RA; strategies to empower victims and bystanders; hints for handling RA parents; and most importantly how to overcome the culture that breeds RA.

35618 SECD Support Cadre (Virtual)

The SECD Support Cadre is an opportunity for educators to connect with other educators and discuss how to support student, staff, and parent social-emotional learning and skills. Integrating Social, Emotional and Character Development structures, practices, and teaching consciously and specifically is essential during the 2020-2021 school year. The discussion topics are determined by the group - what is working, not working, what help is needed, or want more information on. Additional dates: November 3, December 1, February 2, March 2, April 6, and May 4.
